CalciCare calcium alginate dressings—addressing your wound packing needs.

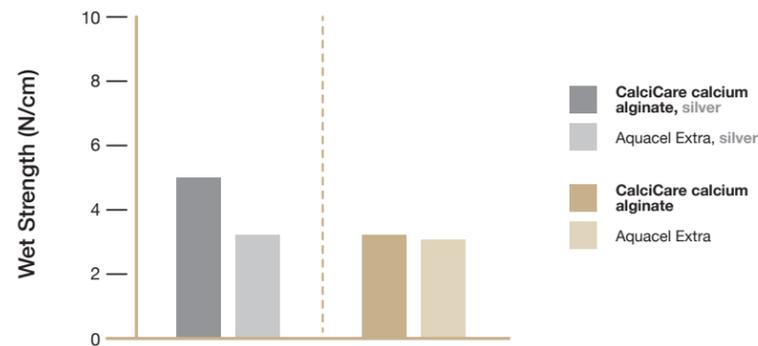

Strengthening nylon web

- Increased integrity when wet, helping to achieve clean, one-piece removal

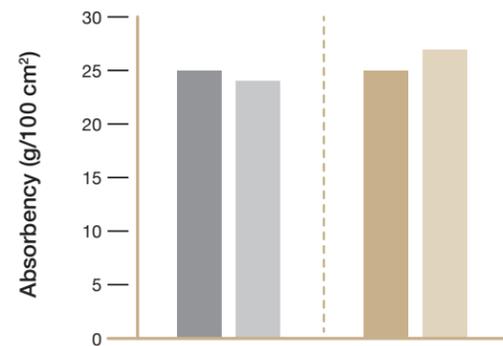

Calcium alginate material

- Highly absorbent
- Natural calcium alginate fibers
- Creates conformable protective gel when in contact with exudate

Excellent wet strength¹

Comparable absorbency¹

CalciCare calcium alginate dressing

Natural calcium alginate fibers

- Residual fibers are biodegradable

Protects the wound

- Aids autolytic debridement, facilitating wound healing

High wet strength

- Facilitates intact, one-piece removal

Hemostatic properties

- As the product contains alginate, it may assist in supporting the control of minor bleeding in superficial wounds

Highly absorbent

- Uniformly absorbs exudates and protects the peri-wound skin

Helps form and maintain a moist wound interface

- Creates a conformable protective gel when in contact with exudate

CalciCare calcium alginate silver dressing

All the benefits with the addition of sustained silver release

- Silver ions are released in the presence of wound exudate
- Effective against a broad spectrum of microorganisms through recommended wear time

New strengthening layer increases confidence that what goes in comes out.
